Accessibility Guide - Þórunnartún 2

1. Arriving to the building

Accessible park spots
Right in front of the entrance to Þórunnartún 2, there is a designated accessible parking space with a smooth, level surface and no thresholds.

Entry to the building
The Film Department shares its main entrance with several other companies, most visibly the second-hand store located on the right.

An automatic sliding door opens into the main hallway.

You can head straight towards the stairwell or turn right to reach the elevator; it will be on your left.

Please note that there is no automatic door opener and that the door is heavy.

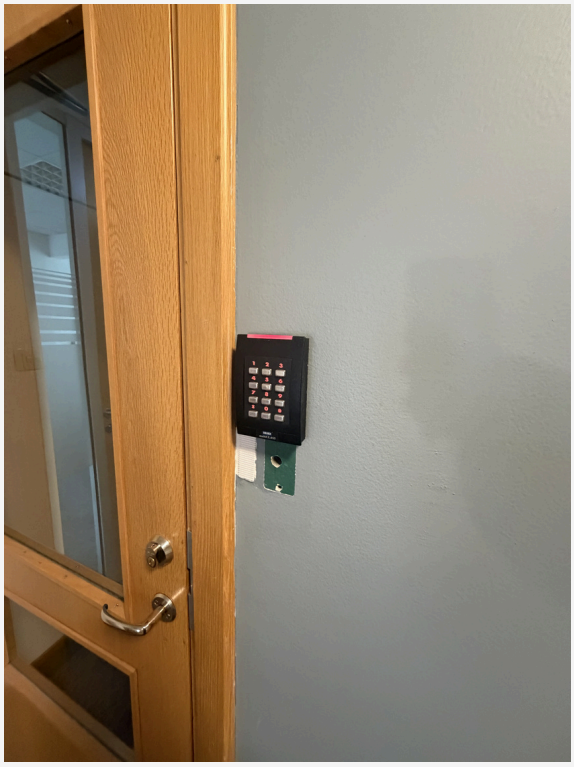

LHÍ has rooms on both level 2 and 3 (marked with a yellow dot).

3. Accessible bathrooms

There is one barrier-free restroom across the building.

! The door to the bathroom does not open automatically and does not have a baby changing station.

4. Thresholds and door openers

There are no automatic door openers in the building and there are no thresholds to move from rooms to room, or building.

5. Quiet spaces

There are no dedicated quiet spaces in this location; however, there are several quiet corners and unused meeting rooms that can be used for decompression or reduced sensory input. These can be found on both the second and third floors.

6. Meeting point and reception

There is no reception in Þórunnartún 2. If a meeting point is needed, the most convenient option is to meet at the front door and walk to the department together.
